

Doing Good, Doing Revision!

Feeling stressed, pressured and have no time....but still want to do good? Welcome to the world of microvolunteering! Guaranteed to take your mind off revising!

“ Easy, quick, no commitment actions that benefit worthy causes ”

How Long Will It Take?

Where Can You Do It?

What Can You Do?

Skilled

- Provide marketing advice for a 'do good' campaign
- Perform a SEO audit on a charities web presence
- Blog post ideas to engage nonprofits' audience
- Create a feedback web form for a worthy cause
- Design a captivating logo for a charity
- Compose thank-you letters to donors
- Social media introduction guidance
- Critique a webpage for a non-profit etc, etc (hundreds more!)

Non-Skilled

- Play online games to raise free money for charities
- Feed a starving person for free with a mouse click
- Complete questionnaires for psychology studies
- Describe photos for the visually impaired
- Install free software to help cure cancer
- Write a cheery letter to a very sick child
- Tag maps with local online knowledge
- Sign a charities' ePetition campaign etc, etc (hundreds more!)

Microvolunteering Platforms

Microvolunteering Action Examples

Describe Pictures

5 minutes

Describe museum collection pictures to assist blind people or the visually impaired.

<http://describeme.museumvictoria.com.au/>

Letter Writing

20 minutes

Put a smile on a very ill child's face by writing them an uplifting cheery email or letter.

<http://www.postpals.co.uk/>

Classify Galaxies

10 minutes

Help classify galaxies taken by space telescopes, that allow astronomers to understand the universe better.

<http://www.galaxyzoo.org/>

Match Speech to Video

30 minutes

Match up written speech being displayed from the UK Parliament's House of Commons, to what's being played on a video.

<http://www.theyworkforyou.com/video/>

Donate Your Knowledge

20 minutes

Help answer questions posed by all sorts of people in need of advice on community service issues by freely sharing your knowledge.

<http://yhoo.it/ayyP4y>

Volunteer Spare PC Power

5 minutes

Use the spare processing power of your pc to work on a small part of a larger problem that may save lives, find ET and so many more projects.

<http://www.gridrepublic.org/>

Phrase Detectives

15 minutes

Identify relationships in words and phrases in a short text to help computers improve text summarisation and search engine indexing.

<http://bit.ly/bUxhXx>

Proofread a Book Page

10 minutes

Proofread a page from a Public Domain book to ease its conversion into an e-book. Preserves old books for future generations to read.

<http://www.pgd.net/c/>

Describe Videos

30 minutes

Add audio description to YouTube videos to enable blind people to receive descriptions for the instructional, informational, and entertainment videos offered on YouTube

<http://youdescribe.org/>

Find Genghis Khan

20 minutes

Participate in a non-invasive survey to find the lost tomb of Genghis Khan by tagging clues and artefacts on satellite images of the area of interest in Mongolia.

<http://bit.ly/a1HHAy>

Transcribe Videos

30 minutes

Caption, translate, subtitle or translate videos to make them accessible for deaf people or people who can't speak the language

<http://www.amara.org/en/>

Share Your Images

10 minutes

Donate your photos to be used for free by charities in the promotion of their causes. Photos are also sold to non-charities to raise money for nonprofits.

<http://www.photofoundation.org/>

Donate Illness Symptoms

10 minutes

Report and track your health (or otherwise) and raise money for charity for free, all in the name of helping scientists discover the factors relating to the common cold

<http://www.healthtracking.net/>

E-Teach English

30 minutes

Share your English skills by simply talking to people who wish to learn English. By just listening and responding to a few pre-prepared questions, you can make a huge difference.

<http://bit.ly/179mOwX>

Good luck in your exams!

This summary sheet was prepared by Help From Home, a leading provider of microvolunteering actions across the globe!

<http://www.helpfromhome.org/>